Farmingville, NY - On December 16, Councilwomen Connie Kepert and Jane Bonner, along with the Town Board presented certificates of congratulations to two star athletes from Longwood High School. Isaiah White, a senior, was awarded the 55th Annual Carl A. Hanson Award and named the best player in Suffolk County for 2014. As a "hybrid" running back and linebacker, he rushed 1,948 yards and scored 29 touchdowns as Longwood finished the Suffolk Division I regular season with an 8-0 record. Matthew Weiss, a junior, was awarded the Zelner Award and named the top lineman in Suffolk County for 2014. As a lineman, Weiss made 46 tackles, including 17 for a loss.

"Year after year, Longwood High School produces many exceptional student-athletes," said Councilwoman Jane Bonner. "Isaiah and Matthew are outstanding young men who worked very hard to achieve their goals and they have set a great example for their fellow students to follow."

"Isaiah and William are shining examples of student athletes that are committed to focus, dedication, and a strong work ethic," said Councilwoman Connie Kepert. "Both gentlemen have experienced great successes on and off the field and serve as role models to their peers. I wish them the best of luck and continued success in their future endeavors."
